Japanese Evasive But Suave in Their Reply To Roosevelt's Note

Prefer To Make No Comment On Appeal For Treaty Binding Nations Against Aggression; To Help At London.

Washington, June 7.—Japan, with thousands of troops in Northern China, told President Roosevelt Tuesday that it prefers to make no comment now on his appeal for a treaty binding the nations against sending armed forces beyond their borders.

The Tokio government at the same time informed the chief executive, however, of a hearty response to his plea for universal peace and for earnest co-operative efforts toward success at the London economic conference and the Geneva arms reduction parley.

Japan expressed its views in a brief communication replying to the historic message of Mr. Roosevelt dispatched on May 16 to virtually all the world's rulers proposing his nonaggression pact.

Reference to this projected treaty by Japan was entirely inferential. After asserting that the Tokio government is fully resolved to collaborate at the economic parley and is exerting its best efforts toward an arms reduction agreement, the message added:

"Their (the Japanese government's) views upon the different steps detailed in the president's message can, if necessary, be presented as occasion offers."

Awaiting Discussions.

Officials here interpreted this to mean that Japan prefers to withhold an expression on the nonaggression proposal until the subject has advanced to the status of active discussion between the nations.

Mr. Roosevelt had asked in his May 16 message that all the nations "enter into a solemn and definite pact of nonaggression" and "individually agree that they will send no armed forces of whatsoever nature across their frontiers."

Many unofficial commentators were quick to apply this phrase to the position of the Japanese armies in China as well as to the president's later expressed definition of an aggressor nation as one whose troops are found on alien soil in violation of treaties.

Since sending his peace message, Mr. Roosevelt has conferred with Viscount Kikujiro Ishii, chief Japanese delegates to the London conference. While here Mr. Ishii took exception to the definition of an aggressor nation advanced by the president.

JUDGE ANDREWS IS PLEASED WITH HIS NEW JOB

Judge T. C. Andrews, who was recently appointed by Gov. M. A. Ferguson on the board of pardons, being its chairman, has gone to Austin and is much pleased with his new job. Judge Andrews, writing these editors from Austin on June 6, says:

"Please say in your columns that I started to work on the board of pardons and paroles this morning and am highly pleased with the work. I am also pleased with the other two members on the board and have talked with them long enough to feel that I know them well. Judge Woodward is an ex-judge and ex-district attorney, and Judge Henry is a great grandson of Patrick Henry. I learned that Judge Woodward, for many years, was a bosom friend of my dearest uncle, T. C. Andrews, deceased.

"In talking over the matter, I am pleased to know that the other members of the board coincide with me on the general principles governing the work of this board. The work is hard and tedious, but feeling that we may render some good service to the state, we enjoy the work. As I had not before known the other members, I was anxious to let my friends in Collin county know that I find them to be very affable, and if my friends should call, at any time, the other two members of the board will give them a very patient hearing. In other words, I like my job and the members of the board and those connected with the office.

Yours Truly,

T. C. ANDREWS."

INCREASED PRICE FOR SILVER TO BE ASKED AT LONDON

Aboard U. S. President Roosevelt en Route to London, June 7.—Any plan to increase materially the price of silver was revealed Tuesday as an integral part of the program to be followed by the United States delegation at the world economic conference, opening in London next Monday.

This project—of particular significance to silver-producing states in the West—was part of an informal accord reached with the various nations who sent delegations to Washington in recent weeks to discuss economic topics, it was learned.

These nations agreed tentatively to a plan to reduce gold coverage of their currencies, possibly to a minimum of 25 per cent, with 5 per cent of this to be actually in silver, at the option of the central banks.

To Agree on Price.

Silver in this instance would be based on an agreed price, to be determined at London. The banks would buy silver as the price falls and sell when it rises, to maintain their 5 per cent of its gold value in their reserve funds.

This likewise would tend to stabilize silver and keep it from fluctuation, it was believed.

SUBMACHINE GUN USED IN $2,000 BANK HOLDUP

Durant, Ok., June 7.—Two robbers, one armed with a submachine gun, raided the First State bank of Bokchito, sixteen miles east of here, Tuesday and escaped in a small coupe with $2,000.

Marvey Wilson, his wife and Roy Moreland, bank employes, were forced to lie on the floor while the robbers took money from the counter and a safe.

Officers from four counties, Bryan, Atoka, Pushmataha and Choctaw, joined in pressing the search for the pair.

County Judge J. Frank Harrington and his commissioners, as well as Mayor Joe E. Largent and his commissioners, are sitting this week as equalization boards. A large number of taxpayers have been before each board.

ICE BOX TOP FALLS AND TWO CHILDREN SMOTHER TO DEATH

Greenville, Texas, June 7.—Two children were smothered to death Tuesday in an ice box in which they were playing. The heavy lid fell, trapping them.

The bodies of the children, Bettie Jean, 7, and Ted, 3, were found at night in the ice box by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Lynch, who live in the Van Sickle community near here.

The parents began a search on returning from their work. They said they last had seen the children some four hours before the bodies were found. At that time they were playing in the yard.

Efforts at resuscitation were made in vain.

The semi-monthly singing at the Nazarene church will be held Friday night beginning at 8:15 o'clock. R. F. Williams will lead the singing and hopes to have out-of-town singers from Dallas and Denison present. The singing is open to the general public and a large crowd is expected to attend.

Miss Otis Brown of Roland and Willard Kissinger of Prosper, accompanied by Misses Ruth Pell and Mary Humes, drove to Durant, Oklahoma, Thursday, June 1, and were united in marriage by Eld. S. M. Shirley, pastor of the Church of Christ at that place. The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Brown of Roland, where she was reared and has a large circle of friends. The groom is the son of the late John G. Kissinger, of Prosper, and is well liked by all who know him. The happy young couple will reside with the groom's mother, Mrs. John Kissinger, at Prosper.

GRAYSON LAW MAKER TELLS OF SCHOOL FINANCES

J. W. Adamson of Denison, one of the representatives in the lower house from Grayson county, has just returned home from the state capital at Austin. According to his view, the state school apportionment will be between $12.50 and $14.50 per scholastic. In addition to this, he declared there will be $3,000,000 for rural aid.

Mr. Adamson listed four "outstanding accomplishments" of the regular session. They were:

Reducing the expenses of the state government for the next biennium $13,000,000.

Changing the tax on oil from two per cent to two cents a barrel.

Placing an intangible asset tax on oil and gasoline pipelines.

Modifying the so-called "gin marriage" law.

"The state finances are not in as bad condition as some think," Mr. Adamson said. "To my way of thinking, a deficit is better than a surplus in government, because a surplus tends to extravagance. Perhaps the state's deficit in the general revenue is four or five million dollars—no worse than it was two years ago."

M'KINNEY BOY WRITES ABOUT CAMP LIFE

The following letter was written by Clifton E. Tallent, son of Mrs. Maggie Tallent, 407 South Benge street, this city, a widow lady. Clifton was chiefly reared in the Princeton community and attended school there. He recently enlisted for service in the Reforestation army that is being assembled at camps over the United States. He was sent to Fort Sill, Okla. His letter states that there are about twenty-five boys from McKinney in his camp and a total of 75 from Collin county. He tells something of the experiences of himself and comrades in camp as follows:

Ft. Sill, Okla., June 3.

We left McKinney Monday morning, May 22, arrived at Fort Sill, Okla., May 23, tired and hungry. We were examined at the infirmary, vaccinated for small pox and given the typhoid serum. We were then issued mess kits and were lined up for mess and how we did eat. We were then issued bedding, personal notions and led to our tents, made up our bunks and were then called by the first lieutenant and sergeant for our clothing. We surely did receive a liberal supply. It was about 9 o'clock when we received our clothing and the next morning there was a general swapping of clothing for sizes to fit. It sure was fun to see a 5 foot 5 talking to a 7 foot 1 with clothes in hands. The words here are "When do we eat?" "Have you got a match?" "Well, give me a light?" "Give me a cigaret."

Morning, arise at 6 o'clock; roll call 6:15; breakfast 6:30; duty 7 o'clock; off for lunch 11:15; lunch 12:45; back to duty 1:15; off 4:15; supper 5:15; released 5:30; recreation to 9:45; in bed at 10 o'clock. This is a great life. Exercise, work, hike and play. The sports are boxing, wrestling, ball hiking, singing, music, guitars and violins, also reading at the recreation hall. Every man has to keep his own equipment and clothing clean as well as his body. Boy this sure is going to make some fellows over. Camp 858 has the very best of discipline among all camps here at Fort Sill. We were scheduled to leave for Blue River, Colo., last Friday, 26. There are about twenty-five boys from McKinney in this camp and about seventy-five from Collin county. There are 200 boys in the camp from Dallas, Denton, Paris, Greenville, Commerce, Waxahachie, Kaufman and McKinney.

Mrs. Ferguson is holding us up from moving. She wants us to work in Texas. We will move camp in about five days for somewhere. It may be Farmersville. Don't know for sure. We have a fine lieutenant and sergeant. Both from Denton. There goes the whistle for chow. Goodbye until next month.

THIS WEEK IS BUSY ONE IN DIST. COURT

The third day of this week's criminal assignment in Fifty-Ninth District court got under way today with attorneys making their arguments to the jury in the case of the State of Texas vs. Clarence Gotcher, charged with theft over $50. Gotcher was found guilty and given two years in jail.

In the case of the State of Texas vs. Henry Virgil Williams (colored), the jury returned a verdict of guilty Tuesday, assessing a fine of $200 against the defendant. He faced a charge of assault with intent to murder.

Judge W. E. Wilcox is presiding over this court session. The present term will come to a close Saturday, June 17.

AUTOS DIFFICULT TO USE ACCOUNT HEAVY TRAFFIC

The use of passenger motor cars at the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago, now in progress, will be very difficult because of traffic regulations there, according to Miss Geneva Carr, manager of the road information department of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Carr was informed by the exposition association that congestion in the downtown district of Chicago near the entrance to the exposition would make impossible the parking of automobiles anywhere near the grounds.

"Drivers not familiar with Chicago will find difficulty in disposing of their cars," Miss Carr said. "It will be necessary to park ten or fifteen miles away and ride either suttle cars or busses to the grounds.

"The Chicago police have announced that they will discourage pleasure cars from coming into the crowded downtown district, which will be overflowing with commercial traffic."

Miss Margaret Moulden has returned to her home after attending C. I. A. this past term. She is a daughter of Judge and Mrs. R. L. Moulden.

Rev. Thos. Sterck, pastor of the Methodist churches at Anna and Melissa, was a welcome business caller at our office.

Geneva, Switzerland, June 7.—The United States favors international supervision of armament manufacturers and control of arms traffic, Norman H. Davis told the disarmament conference steering committee Tuesday.

So-So, Pretty Kitty Of The Brockman Children, Found By Classified Ad

If you don't think "it pays to advertise" then you should try inserting an ad in The Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette.

"So-So," one of McKinney's most popular felines, was safely restored to her home Tuesday through a small 25-cent classified advertisement placed in this paper.

The kitty was the property of Mrs. Roy Brockman and children. "So-So," as the feline is called by the children of the neighborhood, strayed from home a few days ago and could not be located, although Mrs. Brockman and children had searched over the city in an effort to find the pet. Tuesday morning the thought came to her to put an ad in the "Lost" column of these papers. The paper went to press by 3 o'clock, and before the carrier boy had reached the Brockman residence with the afternoon edition, a reader, living several blocks nearer town, read the ad, telephoned Mrs. Brockman where the cat could be found, and so, "So-So" was found and immediately carried home, thus reaching there before the paper did.

This is just one of the many instances where advertising in this paper pays.

Louis Jackson of Dallas visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jackson here Sunday.

Miss Lucy Ann Cowan, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert L. Cowan, who has been a student at C. I. A., Denton, is at home for the summer.

C. C. CARUTH OF WESTON VISITS M'KINNEY

Our office received a welcome visit from C. C. Caruth, who lives two miles northeast of Weston. He is living in fifty yards of where he was born nearly sixty-four years ago on August 3, 1869. He is a son of the late J. E. Caruth, a pioneer of that community, who settled there about 1857 and who died there twenty-three years ago. C. C. Caruth's mother was Miss Elizabeth George before her marriage. While in our office, C. C. Caruth renewed the Democrat-Gazette subscription going to his daughter, Mrs. A. Z. Howell, a school teacher, who has lived at Paducah, Texas, for three years. She and her husband are both teaching and have both been re-elected to their respective positions again for next year. Mrs. Howell was formerly Miss Nova Caruth, who received her college education in the Texas Woman's college and the North Texas State Teachers' college, both institutions at Denton. C. C. Caruth has a son, Merritt Caruth, and wife who are also living at Paducah. There are no better people in our county than the Caruths.

MRS. C. P. HEARD IS HOSTESS TO CHURCH SOCIETY

Meeting in the home of one of its members, Mrs. C. P. Heard, the Missionary Society ladies of the First Methodist church enjoyed one of their very best and most interesting sessions at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, June 5. Mrs. C. P. Heard is a past president of the society and one of its most faithful, efficient and beloved workers. A former member of the society and president of it for several years, Mrs. J. D. Stiff, now of Dallas, was the honor guest. Mrs. Stiff is also a former district president and for many years was a worker and leader of the society and in other activities of the First Methodist church here until she moved to Dallas.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. E. L. Burton, Mrs. Thos. Johnson, vice president, opened the meeting and presided. "Rock of Ages" was the opening hymn with Mrs. George M. Wilson at the piano and Mrs. A. D. Hope in charge of the devotional. The Twenty-Third Psalm was repeated in concert and Mrs. J. W. N. Burkett led in prayer.

An interesting business session was conducted. The Missionary Bulletin was presented by Mrs. F. A. Klutts, and Mrs. J. W. N. Burkett gave a Bible study on the Book of Amos. Then, by request, the honor guest, Mrs. J. D. Stiff, made a most interesting though brief talk in which she spoke affectionately of her association in the society and especially of one of the society's oldest members, Mrs. M. M. Nelson, who responded to the warm words of friendship in her sweet, modest way.

After the Mizpah benediction, the president, Mrs. E. L. Burton, who came in late, and Mrs. Robert W. Gribble presented a short skit as a diversion in which the names of the members of the church were given. Mrs. Wallace Hughston and Mrs. Dick Allen were leaders—one, Mrs. Eversharp and the other, Mrs. Eveready—with Mrs. Hughston leading by four points.

Mrs. Heard, always an ideal hostess, was doubly gracious in the dispensation of hospitality to her sisters of the society and their honored guests. She passed delicious cherry ice cream, homemade cake and mints to the members and visitors. Mrs. Heard was assisted in entertaining by her daughter, Mrs. Roy Wright.

Commissioner Shaw said he believed that if the bank's affairs were wound up in an orderly fashion, the interests of all depositors would be fully protected.

Mr. Chandler is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Chandler of Plano. He lived at McKinney for several years and served two terms as county attorney.

Texas Flyer Leaves Omsk After Resting

Omsk, Siberia, June 7 (Wednesday).—James Mattern, fit after a good night's sleep, took off at 1:10 a. m. Wednesday considerably behind the Post-Gatty record at this point in his solo race around the world from New York.

Mattern said he would stop next at Chita, approximately 1,700 miles east of here.

The Texan was seven hours and forty minutes behind the time of the Post-Gatty flight when he left the airport here. He reached Omsk about four hours ahead of the record but took time out for sleep before proceeding toward Chita.

6,850 Miles Flown.

Mattern had flown an estimated distance of approximately 6,850 miles from New York, while Post and Gatty had flown a total of more than 7,000 miles up to Omsk, due to their being lost over England and their subsequent flight by stages to Berlin from there.

The young American brought his Century of Progress airplane here at 1:35 p. m. Tuesday after an uneventful flight from Moscow. He clambered out of the cockpit dead tired and after instructing mechanics to refuel and go over the machine, he announced he intended to remain all night, resuming the flight early in the morning.

Mattern was sighted only once on his long flight across Russia to this Siberian town just over the Ural mountains near the border between Europe and Asia.

RAT POISONING DIRECTIONS ARE GIVEN BY AGENT

County Farm Agent Jack McCullough gives out the following directions for successfully killing rats, which annually cause thousands of dollars worth of damage in this county:

"To successfully poison rats one should first put out a bait for two or three nights without any poison in it. This is done to get the rats started eating the bait. On the third night put the same kind of bait out with poison added. One should find out where most of the pre-bait was eaten and then put most of the poison bait in that place. There isn't much use to put poisoned bait in places where rats do not eat. They generally eat food from our kitchens, garbage cans, chicken troughs, and barns, and all of the poisoned bait should be put around such places the third night. Don't make the mistake of putting only a small amount of the poisoned bait out to see if it it good. You will kill a few rats, but the rest will not touch it, and there will be no use of trying to poison them again for a month. The poison used is Red Squill and can be gotten at practically all drug stores. It kills rats and rats only. However, it will make anything that eats it sick until they can vomit. The reason it kills rats is because rats can't vomit."

Agent McCullough explains that after the rats die, which takes anywhere from 4 hours to 4 or 5 days, they should be gathered up and buried or burned to prevent chickens and turkeys from eating the dead animals and taking limberneck. In case they take limberneck from eating these animals, they should be treated by forcing several drops of sweet oil mixed with two or three drops of turpentine down the fowls mouth.

The pre-bait should be mixed as follows: 1 cup oat meal, 1 cup shorts, 1 cup sweet milk, 1 egg, and one fourth pound of fresh ground lean meat. This mixture should be put out at least two nights before putting the poisoned bait out which is mixed as follows: ½ pound oatmeal, ½ pound shorts, 4 eggs, 2 cups sweet milk, 1 pound fresh ground lean meat, 2 ounces Red Squill poison. Mix the oatmeal, shorts, and poison before adding eggs, milk and meat. Place this poison bait out in small amounts about the size of a pecan.

REAL FARM RELIEF.

Nearly 400,000 farmers whose mortgages are now held by the Federal Land banks will be benefitted by the farm relief bill which has just become a law through the signature of President Roosevelt. It contains provisions through which excessive debts may be cut down, by which interest rates may be reduced and payments on the principle postponed, and other provisions for direct loans to farmers for meeting urgent obligations and for redeeming land which has been taken from them by foreclosure. In a radio address given recently by Henry Morgenthau Jr., chairman, Federal Farm Board, designed to be governor of farm credit administration by President Roosevelt, he said:

All those farmers whose mortgages are held by any of the 12 Federal Land banks will benefit directly under the new act. There are nearly 400,000 of these farmer-borrowers, and the amount of their loans aggregates more than $1,000,000,000. They are now paying rates of interest between 5 and 6 per cent, the average being about 5½ per cent. Sixty days after the approval of the act by the President, the interest rate on all of these mortgages in the continental United States will be reduced to 4½ per cent and it must remain at that rate for the next 5 years. The banks are enabled to make this immediate reduction in interest through authorization in the act of an appropriation of $15,000,000 to the banks for this purpose, to cover the interest lost to them in the first fiscal year, and such additional appropriations as may be necessary during the subsequent 4 years. Farmers whose mortgages are now held by the Federal Land banks will save approximately $11,000,0000 in interest payments a year, or $55,000,000 in the 5-year period. Any borrowers who receive loans from the Federal Land bank through national farm-loan associations, during the next 2 years, will get the benefit of the same low rate of interest. This rate is materially lower than the average rate on farm mortgages throughout the country. The rates fixed by the Federal Land banks have always had a strong influence in determining the rates charged by other lending agencies in the farm-mortgage field and it is anticipated that this reduction in land-bank rates will be followed by reductions by other mortgage holders.

If all those who hold farm mortgages should reduce rates by as much as 1 per cent on the average, the saving to farmers in payments on the aggregate total farm-mortgage debt of $8,500,000,000 would be $85,000,000 annually.

The act provides additional benefits for those farmers whose mortgages are held by any one of the 12 Federal Land banks. Federal Land-bank mortgages provide for regular annual or semiannual payments by the borrowers on the principal of the loan, in addition to the interest on the unpaid balance. The new act provides that for a period of 5 years these principal payments, called "amortization payments," shall not be required if the mortgage is otherwise kept in good standing. In addition, the land banks are given authority to permit borrowers to postpone such interest payments as they can show they are unable to meet. To make this possible, the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to subscribe an additional $50,000,000 to the paid-in surplus of the Federal Land banks.

DOUBLE DOUBTS.

We believe in good roads and good schools both, but if we must choose between the two, we want to see our schools maintained at their high standard without being crippled by a lack of funds. As the Bogata News editor says: "Let's educate tomorrow's men and women at whatever cost, and things will be taken care of in an adequate way later on."—McKinney Daily Courier-Gazette.

Give the rising generation a good education and they can enjoy themselves at home, in case the roads are too bad for them to go anywhere. As long as the roads invite the wandering foot, education doesn't make so much difference. Education doesn't earn much when traveling. It is true, to be sure, that the educated traveler can enjoy his knowledge as he lits along the paved road, for culture is manifested in the character of one's meditations. The uncultured pilgrim looks at the scenery, the cultured one thinks of poetry, drama and the beaux arts. Looking at the scenery contributes to neglect of the road, hence collisions with other pilgrims. Meditation tends to induce absent-mindedness, hence more collisions. These considerations leave the unseasoned thinker in doubt as to whether education is better to be chosen than good roads, or good roads in lieu of education. There can be no doubt, however, that the educated man who stays at home and reads Paradise Lost or Dante's Inferno does better by himself than one who hits the highway for a succession of wild goose chases.—State Press in Dallas News.

A recent news item in this paper told of the conferring of a medal upon a fifteen-year-old Boy Scout, Morgan Flennikin, at Kerrville. His Scout training enabled him to resuscitate three small children of a family of tourists who had been overcome by monoxide gas. He had to work with one of the little victims for eight hours during which period he didn't take time to eat. This manly little here is a nephew and grandson of former County Tax Collector Henry Flennikin of McKinney.

You do not want to see McKinney's public schools—the biggest and best real asset she has—go backwards, do you? Certainly not. Do you fully realize that when you go away from McKinney to trade, you are just taking a "shingle off your own house," thus helping—gradually, slowly, but surely—to practically help kill your schools? You are. How, you may ask? It takes taxes, as you know, to run the schools. Where do you get the money to run the schools? From the owners of homes, merchandise stocks, industrial enteprrises, etc. If you go away from home to trade, the merchants can't rent the houses, the stocks of goods are not carried, so you can get the money from the taxes. What are you going to do? You can easily figure it out yourself. Our public schools in McKinney are headed for the "rocks," unless you turn your Tin Lizzie backwards from Dallas and trade more with home merchants. No question about it. Dallas merchants certainly won't come up here and help to run our schools. They have schools of their own to run. Of course, you owners of homes, merchandise stocks, industrial enterprises, are not going to take notice of this now. Just wait until our schools are "cut short," then you will "wake up," and we don't mean, maybe. Some of us never miss the milk until the cow goes dry; never miss the water until the well gives out. Just food for thought. And, you will think much before 1933 is gone. Co-operation, trading at home with local merchants, so they can pay their taxes, will help keep our schools going. The whole world is sorely pressed. You can do your part. Will you? Sure you will.

In the recent passing of A. W. (Meck) Kerr, 85, retired Houston business man, Texas lost one of her truly model and most valuable type of worthy citizenship. Born in Tennessee, he came to Texas when a boy with his parents, the late Maj. and Mrs. Green W. Kerr, who settled in Collin county about seven miles northwest of McKinney nearly three-quarters of a century ago. The family gave to our country and state numerous honored posterity; farmers, nurserymen, florists, horticulturists, teachers, preachers, public officials. The deceased and his brother, the late John S. Kerr of Sherman, according the Houston Post, founded the first commercial nursery of the state at McKinney and then at Sherman. A couple of his other brothers also gave considerable attention to the same line of industry at or near McKinney and at other points. All of these Kerrs intelligently studied tree, plant and flower culture. Some of them originated new varieties of fruit, nuts and flowers. Indeed, a son of the deceased is recognized now as one of the most successful and prominent florists of the south. Major Green W. Kerr is remembered as a pioneer settler of the highest and most influential type of citizenship in his day and generation who believe in and help establish and support good churches and schools and who inspired his children to seek knowledge and square their daily living by the rule of Christian ethics and precepts. We of the present generation are the beneficiaries. We honor ourselves when we honor the name and memory of such forbears in the development of our great county and state.

Dissolution has come to J. H. (Buttermilk) Lowry, as it will come to us all. He died at his home in Honey Grove Monday, after a lingering illness of months. He was buried Tuesday. For forty years he was one of Texas' out-standing newspaper men, a former President of the Texas Press Association. He was bright, brainy, affable. He was one of the most beloved members of the Fourth Estate in Texas. These editors and Jim Lowry were personal friends for thirty-five years. He made the world better and bright by having lived in it. To his loved ones, these editors extend our sincere condolence. The craft has lost a brilliant intellect and one of its most gifted pens.

Your home doctor, your home lawyer, your home preacher, your home undertaker, your home banker—they are for you, whether poor or rich, in or out of trouble. Consult them first, before sending or going out of town or patronizing Sears, Roebuck & Co., Montgomery & Ward. Some may think we are talking foolishness; we are giving you good, common-sense advise. Just a little food for thought. That's all.

Horse racing and gambling is coming back into Texas. A bill has just been passed by the Texas legislature, authorizing it. The next move is beer. It may be back on August 26. But not by this editor's vote. Never. When a Senator, years ago, this editor helped to drive gambling on horse races out of Texas. Not sorry we did. Sorry to see it come back. The people and whole world want a change. They are getting it, believe us. Where do we go from here?

"You editors sure do beg with all your power for the people to trade in McKinney," said a well wishing business man to us. "If property owners were as loyal to McKinney, as you editors, you can believe me, this old town would be a real humdinger." By co-operation, we can all make McKinney the best town in Texas. Where do we go from here?

Senator Morris Sheppard will make speeches in Texas against the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. Senator Sheppard is the author of the amendment. He is against bringing beer back into Texas. He is among Texas' big, brainy men that the people can depend upon to "stand hitched" for them. More power to the great and good man.

Speak to people. Be courteous. Costs you nothing. It shows good raising. People, who go around, seemingly, "all swelled up," thinking they are a "little better" than someone else, doesn't show good, common-sense. Just because some men have a few more dollars than his poor, unfortunate neighbor, is no reason that he should be "snubbed."

We are prone to look upon slavery as a relic of savagery. Indeed public opinion has undergone a revolutionary change on this idea when we remember that ten of our presidents—Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Tyler, Polk, Taylor, Johnson and Grant were all slaveholders at some time in their careers.

From the investigations going on in Washington, it looks like J. Pierpont Morgan and the "big ones" don't pay very much to run this government. The rich ones—like Morgan and Mellon—believe in "taking it all in," paying nothing out. The small ones pay to run the government while the Morgans and Mellons run it.

Theodore Roosevelt, the twenty-sixth president, was the youngest man to reach that exalted honor in the history of the United States. He was only forty-three when he was sworn in office to succeed McKinley after the latter's assassination.

"If the liquor traffic is right, then Prohibition is wrong; but if the liquor traffic is wrong then Prohibition is right."—Dr. Clarence True Wilson.

If you don't believe that old Collin is where Adam and Eve "first located," just drive over the county now. Looking good. We say so.

Stop Chills and Fever!

Rid Your System of Malaria!

Shivering with chills one moment and burning with fever the next—that's one of the effects of Malaria. Unless checked, the disease will do serious harm to your health. Malaria, a blood infection, calls for two things. First, destroying the infection in the blood. Second, building up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and to fortify against further attack.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic supplies both these effects. It contains tasteless quinine, which kills the infection in the blood, and iron, which enriches and builds up the blood. Chills and fever soon stop and you are restored to health and comfort. For half a century, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic has been sure relief for Malaria. It is just as useful, too, as a general tonic for old and young. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle at any store.

Administration's Rayburn Bill

CONG. SAM RAYBURN of This District.

ADMINISTRATION'S RAILWAY MEASURE PASSED BY HOUSE

Washington, June 6.—Overwhelming House approval Monday was given another of the Roosevelt national recovery proposals—the Rayburn measure to improve the condition of the Nation's railway systems.

Creating a Federal co-ordinator to effect economies and scale down capital investments in the rail systems through a suspension of the antitrust laws, the bill now goes back to the Senate for adjustment of differences between the two branches. It passed without a record vote.

The measure also places holding companies under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission and repeals the recapture clause of the 1920 transportation act thus canceling $361,000,000 in Government claims against carrier for excess profits.

The bill protects labor by preventing the discharge by railroads of any employes through consolidations or eliminations of services or terminal facilities.

ACCIDENT TAKES LIFE OF FORMER M'KINNEY WOMAN

One former McKinney woman was instantly killed and other members of the party seriously injured in an automobile accident that occurred on the Northwest highway, at the intersection of the Denton road, Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Ab Heath, of Wichita Falls, but formerly of this city, met instant death as she and other members of the family were en route to their home in Wichita Falls, after visiting friends in McKinney. They arrived here Saturday, enjoying their visit among old home friends until Wednesday morning.

Members of the party included Mrs. Heath and daughter, Miss Roxie Gaw; Mrs. W. E. Smotherman and son, Leonard. All resided in Wichita Falls. Miss Gaw received cuts and bruises to the face and body and several fractured ribs, while Leonard Smotherman also sustained serious injuries in the way of cuts and bruises. Mrs. Smotherman was uninjured.

Details of the accident are not known. Dallas and Fort Worth police are investigating the case, following reports that a car struck the one in which the Wichita Falls party was riding, failing to stop after the accident.

Ab Heath, husband of the deceased, died in McKinney a few years ago. He is a brother of John W. Heath of Prosper. The Heath family lived a number of years in the White's Grove community. After Ab Heath married he and his wife lived in McKinney a number of years, where he was a carpenter.

Charley Wysong, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Wysong of this city, is at home for the summer vacation after attending Texas university during the 1932-33 term.

RESIGNS LAW PROFESSORSHIP IN STATE UNIVERSITY

H. GRADY CHANDLER

H. Grady Chandler, native born Plano, South Collin man and former county attorney for four years of Collin county, tendered his resignation June 1 as a law professor on the State University faculty at Austin, in order to devote himself to the private practice of law in Austin. As previously stated in this paper, he has just been appointed receiver for the Security Trust company of Austin, on application of the Attorney General, James V. Allred, who acted at the request of James Shaw, state banking commissioner. The institution of which he becomes receiver has $7,000,000 or $8,000,000 of assets. Mr. Chandler served as First Assistant Attorney General under Attorney General Claude Pollard's administration. He is recognized as an able lawyer and a man of unimpeachable integrity and wide influence over the state. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Chandler of Plano and a nephew of Mrs. J. L. Franklin of McKinney. His wife is also a native of Collin county having been born and reared at Farmersville. She is the daughter of the late W. F. Bickley.

The following are details of Mr. Chandler's appointment as receiver of the Security Trust company of Austin as they appeared in the Austin American of June 1:

H. Grady Chandler.

H. Grady Chandler, who was appointed by District Judge W. F. Robertson Wednesday morning as receiver for the Security Trust company of Austin, conferred during the day with officials of the bank, preparatory to his procedure toward liquidation of the affairs of the company.

Receiver was appointed by the court on application of Attorney General James V. Allred, who acted at the request of Banking Commissioner James Shaw.

The action of Commissioner Shaw was concurred in by the board of directors of the Security Trust company.

The procedure was stated to protect the interest of depositors, creditors and stockholders, and to assist the orderly marketing of securities. The bank early in 1931 had ceased accepting deposits, and has been engaged in selling the various Texas municipal bonds it had acquired. The institution has not been engaged in the functions of commercial banking.

Law Professor.

Mr. Chandler, former first assistant attorney general in Attorney General Claude Pollard's administration, and now a professor of law in the University of Texas, has resided in Austin for many years.

Under the law, the institution has three years in which, if the liquidation of its affairs proceeds to a point satisfactory to the court, it may be returned to the control of its board of directors for further functioning. Its charter was not forfeited by the appointment of the receiver and placing its affairs in his hands.

Gov. Ferguson Asked Probe.

Early in the present session of the legislature, Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson called upon the lawmakers to investigate affairs of the Security Trust company, particularly her charges in connection with the escrow of bonds owned by various counties, accepted by the highway commission in lieu of forcing their sale for county aid in road construction. She charged that the lowered market for bonds had caused large losses to the state.

The senate set up an investigation. The governor's office did not offer any evidence, but the senate called numerous witnesses.

Senate Unwilling to Criticize.

At the close of the hearing the senate adopted a report that the charges had failed to be sustained, and the senate was unable and unwilling to criticize actions in the matter.

Recently judges of the counties whose bonds were put in escrow conferred here with officials of the trust company.

In connection with the receivership of the institution, Austin bankers said the action was for the best interest of the depositors and all concerned, and commended the steps taken by Banking Commissioner Shaw and Attorney General Allred in conserving the assets of the institution by the procedure for orderly liquidation.

W. W. M'DOWELL ANSWERED DEATH SUMMONS SUNDAY

After more than a year of steadily failing health, W. W. McDowell, one of McKinney's most universally esteemed retired business men and merchants, quietly breathed his last at 6 o'clock Sunday evening, June 4, at the family residence, 706 West Hunt street. While his death was momentarily expected for several days, yet a wave of sadness spread over the city as the news of his passing spread among his countless friends in our city and over the county and state.

Funeral Monday Afternoon.

Funeral services were held at the family home at 4:30 o'clock Monday by his pastor, Dr. Clifford S. Weaver, and interment followed in Pecan Grove cemetery, under the direction of the Sam J. Massie & Son Funeral home.

Active Pall Bearers—J. L. Woodworth of Dallas, Ben H. Oates, J. P. Harding, Coleman White, F. O. Board and Chilton Board. The funeral was very largely attended. The floral offerings were elaborate and most beautiful. Many messages of condolence and sympathy are coming to the bereaved widow and surviving family.

Native of Georgia.

William Walker McDowell was born at Mouticello, Georgia, December 22, 1857, being a son of William Thomas McDowell and Rocksey (Walker) McDowell. He was born on the old family homestead near Monticello which is still in the possesion of members of the family. When the deceased was a young lad, his parents moved to Texas and settled at Jefferson, where they reared their family. His parents passed away in East Texas and are both buried in the Pleasant Grove cemetery near Pittsburg, Texas. When the deceased was about twenty years old, he passed through McKinney en route to El Paso with the intention of joining the United States army. At McKinney, he was offered a clerkship in the boot and shoe store of Hunstable Bros. and decided to accept it. His pleasing address and personality, quickly established him in the esteem of McKinney business circles as a desirable salesman and he continued to reside here. He later engaged in the dry goods business and also for some time was a member of the Berry-McDowell grocery store of our city. In more recent years, he traveled over an extensive trade territory in the south as representative of some of the largest wholesale dry goods establishments of the country. As a citizen and business man he held the respect and confidence of every acquaintance. He was possessed of the highest ideals of worthy citizenship—clean in his life, chaste in his thinking and conversation, of strict integrity and a supporter with both his personal influence and means of the church, school and every other phase of life related to the moral, religious and material upbuilding of our city, state and country.

His Marriage.

Mr. McDowell was happily married in McKinney, May 21, 1891, to Miss Josephine White, daughter of an honored pioneer couple, the late Mr. and Mrs. Coleman White, of near Frisco, and a sister of P. L. White and Miss Mattie White, both of McKinney, and of the late J. L. White, for many years cashier of the Collin County National bank and of the late Henry H. White, also holding a responsible position for many years with the same bank. Rev. J. P. Pinkerton, then pastor of the First Christian church, officiated. The attendants of Mr. McDowell and bride were their intimate friends, Miss Hallie Board and the late Fred F. Everett, who, themselves, later married. Mr. McDowell was a lifelong member of the Christian church and long was a deacon and held other official positions as long as his health admitted of his attendance and active work in the church. He was an Elk and a Mason and a man who loved companionship and enjoyed his social relations with his host of friends, who, in turn, appreciated his amiability and ever courteous and obliging disposition whether in the business or social realms.

One of Eight Children.

Mr. McDowell was one of eight children, four sons and four daughters. Of these, only two survive, a brother, Paul McDowell, and a sister, Mrs. H. N. G. Bentley, both of Dallas. These have frequently come to McKinney to visit him during his months of illness. Another brother, Cliff McDowell, was for a number of years a McKinney business man and was a son-in-law of the late County Commissioner Sam H. Fox. Besides his wife, who is one of our state's most widely-known beloved and cultured women in club, church and official life, Mr. McDowell is survived by one child, Mrs. J. Jeff Wood, of New Orleans, and two grandchildren, J. Jeff Wood Jr. and William McDowell Wood, who were an unfailing source of joy to his life in his latter years.

CARD OF THANKS.

We take this opportunity to thank all our friends and neighbors for their kindness and help to us through the sickness of my dear wife and our mother, also Dr. Dobbs for his fine services and kindness.

SEVEN DISTINCT ONION GROWING AREAS IN TEXAS

A news item in the Sherman Democrat recently says it's going to take a lot of fried calf liver to cope with the Collin county onion crop this year. Onions, it appears, have just about taken Collin county, the state's only isolated producing territory.

Plans are being made at McKinney to handle what is predicted to be the largest onion crop ever grown in this section of the state. Two railroads are planning to construct new sheds, to care for the crop as it is marketed there.

Onion shipping centers in Collin county besides McKinney include Farmersville, Princeton, Melissa, Wylie, Copeville, Plano and Murphy.

It is predicted at McKinney that the 1933 crop will be greater on an acreage basis than the 1932 crop. Last year 2,600 acres were planted in onions.

In Texas seven distinct areas produce 80 per cent of the early (Bermuda and Creole) onion crop of the nation, and about 17 per cent of the entire crop of the United States.

These districts are the Rio Grande valley above Laredo, the winter garden area, the Rio Grande Valley at Eagle Pass, Willacy county, the coastal bend area in Nueces and San Patricio counties, the Wilson-Karnes county district, and the isolated Collin county area.

The first five districts are early producing areas, earliest of which is marketed early in March, the movement continuing for about two months.

The Collin county area harvests its crop in midsummer.

YOUR HOME TOWN

SEEN HERE AND THERE.

A group of Roswell, New Mexico, folks en route back home after attending the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago; they were busy telling McKinney folks, during their stop-over here, of the sights to be seen on the world's fair grounds . . . Thanks to Mrs. Claude West for a delicious peach, the first we've enjoyed this year; it was fine . . . Two attractive sisters, Misses Mary and Marguerite Farnsworth, come by for a welcome visit . . . Mrs. Harry Bloss and pretty little daughter, Emma Jo, downtown on an afternoon visit, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. F. D. Layman and the latter's sweet little baby daughter, Frances Geraldine, of Whitewright; Frances Geraldine seemed to greatly enjoy her visit to this office . . . Glad to see one of our best friends, Editor Clint Thompson, out again . . . Fred Dickinson, sitting on the iron rail at the Central State bank, talking to two very attractive young ladies . . . What is better on a hot June day than all the good home-made ice cream you can eat? . . . Co. Supt. L. Dow Hendricks and J. T. Rollins holding a conversation in the former's office . . . Our home town boasts a large number of former McKinney High students who are graduating from higher institutions of learning this spring . . . Misses Toogie Pullen and Charline Bridgefarmer are expert cyclists, having lately taken up the bicycle-riding fad; Toogie is an expert, being able to ride without using her hands on the handlebars—and that's an art.

BAPTIST PASTOR'S RETREAT.

Our good friend, Rev. G. B. Bradshaw, pastor of the North McKinney Baptist church, is highly pleased with the progress made during the Collin County Baptist Pastor's Retreat, meeting this week at his church. Local Baptists are entertaining out-of-town visitors. Rev. Mr. Bradshaw says that the general public is cordially invited to meet with them at any or all of the day and night sessions.

FIRST HEATED SPELL.

The first real heated spell of the year has been in our midst this week, sending the mercury up to the 98-degree point on two successive days. All unnecessary clothing has been dispensed with in an effort on the part of local citizens to keep warm. But this hot weather is just the very thing that is needed in old Collin, warm weather being a necessity for cotton and other crops.

WHILE THE SUN SHINES.

Collin farmers are really making hay while the sun shines these days. In fact, they were never busier. Cotton needs to be worked out, corn needs hoeing and plowing, onions are being pulled, topped and marketed, the harvest of the grain crop is at its height. The fact that farmers are unusually busy was proved Monday when the usual large crowd was missing on our streets. However, the folks started coming to town late in the afternoon and by nightfall the streets were filled with business going at full speed.

ABOUT PICNICS.

A few more days such as we have been experiencing lately will cause all of us to think seriously of those annual summer picnic outings, with plenty of pink lemonade, red soda pop, ice cream cones and coca cola, to say nothing of those side shows, hot dog stands and other paraphernalia appertaining to such occasions. All of which reminds us that the annual Collin County Old Settlers' Picnic and Reunion held here usually in July or August is one of the most widely-known and well attended gatherings of its kind in the state.

THESE NIGHTS.

Did you ever see more beautiful days and nights than we are enjoying at this time? McKinney folks are taking advantage of these romantic nights by going on long strolls over town. To tell the truth, it seems more folks are walking now than ever before. It's a healthy, enjoyable and restful form of recreation that is winning new converts daily. We've heard news items and heard stories of wonderful days and nights in other lands of the globe and, while it is a well-known human frailty to think that distant pastures are greenest, yet we don't believe you'll find more ideal weather anywhere on the face of the globe than we are having here and now in old McKinney.

JUNETEENTH.

In looking over the calendar for June, to see what holidays and what celebrations to expect, the thought occurred to us that soon will be around 'Juneteenth.' Lone Star colored residents already have started "talking up" the day and, in the course of their conversation, the impression will have its effect at all upon their employers of the day. Leave this to them to make any comment.

ENJOYABLE VISIT IN WASHINGTON IS DESCRIBED

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Cozad are back at home in this city after a two weeks' visit in Washington, D. C., where they attended the annual Southern Baptist convention. The convention which met in that city on Thursday, May 18, and continued through Tuesday night, May 23, was a huge success.

The president of the convention is Dr. M. E. Dodd, pastor at Shreveport, Louisiana. The sessions were held in 1932 at St. Petersburg, Florida.

The 1934 meeting will be held in Fort Worth, Texas.

Texas had the largest delegation of any state at the convention, several Texas pastors having part on the program. Probably the outstanding speaker from Texas was Dr. George W. Truett, pastor of the First Baptist church of Dallas, who was inspirational speaker for the convention, giving a series of these talks. He was selected to give the closing inspirational address at the last session, May 23, when the Southern and Northern Baptist assemblies met together, the latter beginning its session in Washington the next day. Dr. Truett was preceded in his address by Dr. W. K. Barber, president of Brown university, Baltimore, Maryland. There was an estimated attendance of 15,000 at both gatherings.

Despite the fact that this has been a year of depression and hard times for everyone, the Southern Baptist church had more converts and additions this year than for many years past. The reports, Dr. Cozad stated, were encouraging and showed that the people are sacrificing for the church and its doctrines.

There are twenty-six states represented in the Southern Baptist church.

Dr. Cozad announces that the total gifts to all causes of the church for the year 1932 were $27,341,488, a loss of $5,276,640, as compared with the receipts for 1931. Despite this loss, however, there was a gain of 15,000 Baptists in the Southern Baptist church during the last year. There were 226,855 Baptisms last year, a net gain over 1931 of 15,602. There were 17,000 Baptisms on foreign mission fields. Dr. Cozad says between 12,000,000 and 15,000,000 Baptists were represented at these two conventions. Dr. John McNeil of Ontario, Canada, president of the World's Baptist Congress and Dr. W. W. Williams, (colored) president of the National Colored Baptist association, were in attendance.

In the Southern Baptist convention there are 4,660,140 members, a net gain of 121,574 over 1931, the largest gain in eight years.

Dr. and Mrs. Cozad greatly enjoyed their two weeks' trip, visiting in many noted spots near Washington and vicinity. Their speedometer registered 3,800 miles when they got back to McKinney. Their tour took them through Baltimore, Mount Vernon, Alexandria and the Alleghany mountains, down the Potomac river, through Annapolis and through other noted places.

They spent one night in Baltimore and while there saw seven big United States submarines come into the harbor. They went through one of these subs on a tour of inspection, seeing the intricate interior workings of these undersea boats.

They also visited the White House in Washington, the national capitol building, visiting both the House and Senate. The banking bill was up before Congress while they were there and they heard many discussions relating to it. They also visited beautiful Arlington cemetery, where America's historic dead are buried, the congressional library, the zoo, museum and other points of interest in the national capitol.

Although they passed through some ruggedly beautiful country in the twelve states they crossed on this trip, Dr. Cozad and wife stated that getting back to Texas seemed like getting back into God's country. Many of the states they passed through had a poor crop outlook, while others had had too much rain. But, not so, Texas, which they love best of all and which, according to this beloved pastor and wife, is unbeatable when it comes to natural beauty, rich soil and good people.

On last Sunday morning, June 4, Dr. Cozad gave an account of his trip from the pulpit of the First Baptist church. He told of the high points of the convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Hi Wilmeth, Mrs. Lucy Walker and Mrs. Buddie Wilmeth, all left early this (Saturday) morning for Chicago to attend the World's Fair. They are making the trip by motor.

Mrs. S. D. Wood, a sister of Mrs. W. A. (Will) Jackson of this city, died at her home in Marshall last Monday morning at 5:15 o'clock, after an illness of several months. Mrs. Jackson attended her bedside last week. She returned to Marshall Monday to attend the funeral. Mrs. Wood was well known here where she had often visited and where she had many friends.

Pat Murphy Jr., 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Murphy of this city, who has always kept a watchful eye for the safety of his younger brothers and who also sees to it that none other of his little friends get into too great danger, Saturday entered McKinney's Hall of Fame when he saved the life of a little pal, Benjamin 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ed Hamilton of this city. The children were playing out in the Hamilton yard on North Church street, when Benjamin suddenly toppled off into the minnow pond. When Pat observed his struggles and the fact that he was about to drown, he promptly waded in and hauled out young Benjamin, who was none the worse for the ducking. Of course, Pat had plenty of explaining to do when he got home—wet clothes and all—but he was equal to the occasion and turned a lecture into an eulogy, which made things quite all right all the way around.
